The location is about thirteen miles from Toledo and mid way between Pemberville and the Pikeon a good lime stone ridge, with plenty of timber for miles around. It is now recognized that he chose a goodly site for his in tended enterprise. He at once sent for a surveyor and had twenty-nine dwelling lot and some business lots surveyed out, and these were rapidly disposed of, so that it became necessary for a new survey for more lots to supply the demand. So he sent for Surveyor Geo. Kirk, of Perrysburg, to do the work, and he has now added thirty-seven more to the original plat.

State, where I expect to remain for some time, and am happy to describe to you as well as my feeble pen can do, the most interesting features of the convention.

A detailed account of the proceedings you will find reported in the Akron papers which I sent you, but it is a mere cold, dull detail without the life and spirit.

Gladly would I picture to you those noble, self-sacrificing women, that you could see them as I saw them, but my powers of description are inadequate. I wish you could have heard their earnest, souls stirring words of love as they discussed the different questions and phases of reform. There was mother Stewart, with her strong, tearnest, yet kindly face, her silvery hair and bonnet of the same bue; Mrs. E. J. and bonnet of the same bue: Mrs. E. J. Thompson, who led the first Crusade, her face and words full of love and sparkling

I learned from an acquaintance of hers, a bit of her history, which may interest you. She was the daughter of a former Governor of Ohio, Gov. Tremble: her husband a man of great intellectual ability and superior learning, a Judge of the Supreme Court of the State, fell a victim to strong drink, lived a besotted life, while their only child, a son of much promise, found a premature grave through its influence. We need not wonder she was willing to inaugurate a crusade against so great an enemy to her family and her peace.

Yet when contemplating the work, so great was her respect for her husband's leelings, that she would not engage in it without consulting him. His reply was:

"Well, Elizabeth, if you think it your duty to do such a thing, by all means do it.", She felt that although he did not exactly approve, he did not oppose it, therefore, as savery common attendant. Internal, External follows a a se

She felt that although he did not exactly approve, he did not oppose it, therefore, as she deemed it her duty to do everything in her power to dethrone the world's greatest enemy, she embarked with her whole soni in the work and has continued to labor in the same line to the present. Among the laurels given her is her husband restored to a sober and honorable life to be a collaborer with her. She was chairman of the committee for visiting saloons and liquor dealers, and when called upon for her report I was much pleased with her apology for not having a full written report. On Friday, July 29th, John Schairs, who was in the employ of J. W. Rothenbuler, of Webster, while going out into the wheat field after a load of wheat, fell off the wagnon, from the effects of which he died Smiday evening, July 31st. He had injured his spine in the fall and from the bruises of the wagon wheel, so that the lower half of his body and limbs were dead whon he was picked up a few minutes after the accident. Dr. Loomis, of Webster, and Dr. Busch, of Woodville, were summoned, but there was no hope for him. He was burtiere was no hope for him. He was burtiered to give most of her that with him than to write that when his pleasanter to talk with him than to write that when him than to write that when he have purchased the right for Wood County of Dr. R.R.Senoids 'Patent Me

Above all I wish you could see our dear president, Mis. Woodbridge. Words are entirely too meek to convey any idea of my admiration of her. It seemed to me that her face was radiant with spiritual light and that a halo adorned her head. Such charming sweetness, combined with so much strength of character and patient, self-serificing dearting days.

Such charming sweetness, combined with so much strength of character and patient, self-sacrificing devotion to duty is rarely found. She seems richly endowed with those graces which are from above.

Then there were Mrs. Reese, Mrs. Burton, Mrs. Phinney, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Uhler, Mrs. Monroe, Miss Ingersol, Mrs. Partridge and Miss A. E. Edwards, and a great many other noble specimens of woman hood who took part in the convention, to say nothing of Mrs. Bud. See'y of the National Union, Mrs. Skelton, the German lecturer, Mrs. Henry, of Ht., and Mrs. Ellen Foster, of Iowa, who addressed the convention at different times.

While I was visiting in Sidney Plains, this State, there was a temperance rally under the anapices of the Good Templars, which is the principal organization for temperance work in this county, and from what I learned it has done a good work. They have in this State a Local Option law. This is very good as far as it goes, but is not eagled as Constitutional Pro-

law. This is very good as far as it goes, but is not equal to a prohibitory law, and that is not as good as Constitutional Prohibition, which we are all striving for. One township may this year succeed is electing temperance men for her three commissioners, who will grant no licenses; then there can be no liquor sold within her limits within the year or as long as they can keep such men in office, but perhaps the surrounding townships self-and drunk-ards can get liquor by going a little further af er it. There are only four towns out of the nineteen in the county where liquor is af er it. There are only four towns out of the nineteen in the county where liquor is sold, and the people are sanguine that in another year they will carry the entire county for no license. It is six or eight years since it has been legally sold in this township, and so many of the salpaining towns also prohibit, that for the time being I almost forget the deadly havoc rum is making in our county, it is so quiet, peaceful, orderly and cleanly. O, that it might be so everywhere! If we work with dilligence and faithfulness, trusting in the most High for strength, may we not hope that victory will ultimately be ours?

Now dear sisters believe that our little band and the work we have at heart in Perrysburg is often in my thoughts and the subject of my prayers, my mind is still with you, and my prayer is, that in your

The comment of the pulmonary organis a sale and reliable remedy invaluable. At an' Chernery Pectorsal, is such a remedy, and ac othersoeminently measures the confidence of the public. It is a set entific combination of the medicinal principles and curative visues of the finest drigs, chemically united, of such power as to insure the greatest possible efficiency and uniformity of results. It strikes at the foundation of all pulmonary diseases, affording prompt relief and rapid curves, and is adapted to patients of any age or either sex. Being very palarable, the youngest children take it readily. In ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Clergyman Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarrh, the effects of Aten's Chernery Pactornal preserved from serious illness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping - cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, southing, and helpful.

Low prices are inducements to try some of the many mistures, or syrups, made of cheap and ineffective lugredients, now offered, which, as they contain no curative qualities, can afford only temporary relief, and are sure to deceive and disappoint the patient. Diseases of the throat and lugry demand active and effective treatment; and it is dangerous experimenting with unknown and cheap medicines, from the great liability that these diseases may, while so trified with become deeply seated or incurable. Coe Aven's Chemur Pecronal, and you may confidently expect the best results. It is a siamkard medical preparation, of known and acknowledged curative power, and is a cheap as its careful preparation and fasting of the process of human at all.
